SevenSisters
 REGENERATION

The long awaited regeneration of the area above Seven Sisters Tube Station, known as Waris Corner, has moved one step closer.

The long awaited regeneration of Seven Sisters has moved one step closer with the submission of a new planning application. The new proposals will transform the area around the tube station where some shops have been vacant for 40 years.

The planning application, and all the supporting documents, can be found at www.sevensistersregeneration.co.uk, where you can also register your support.

The long awaited Seven Sisters Regeneration, part of the Tottenham Regeneration Vision, will:

- Deliver £65m of investment into Tottenham and Seven Sisters
- Generate £11 million of new spend in local shops every year and support over 600 new jobs over the next 5 years
- Bring high street names back to Seven Sisters as well as provide new shops for independent businesses
- Provide a new, purpose built, long term home for Seven Sisters Market
- Create a safe and active public area and a new focal point for the community
- Show the world that the regeneration of Tottenham has begun
